Land Use In City Greater For Residences

Engineer Cites Other Statistics In Talk To Club

"Salem's residential area is expanding faster than other cities we have worked with," William W. Kennedy, representative of the Michael Baker Engineering firm of Rochester, Pa., told members of the Rotary Club when they met Tuesday in the Memorial Building.

The Michael Baker firm has completed the city's arterial highway survey report and is completing a comprehensive plan for Salem.

Kennedy also pointed out that the city's water and sewage coverage is good and that the use of present land is satisfactory, according to surveys the firm has done recently.

Old Patterns Stick

Kennedy said that the use of land in the city hasn't changed much since 1806 when the city began building up a commercial district in the State St. and Ellisworth Ave. area. After the commercial areas came the residential and industrial sites, he added.

Kennedy established the following statistics:

1. That 31 per cent of all land in Salem goes to residential use.
2. That 2.2 per cent is utilized for commercial use, and 3.2 per cent for industrial use.

Room for Expansion

He added that Salem's industry is localized and that there is plenty of room for expansion.

Parks and schools consist of 2.7 per cent of all land area, he went on to say, while public and semi-public buildings make up but 1.3 per cent. Streets and alleys take up 12.5 per cent of all land.

Kennedy said that by 1970 Salem would need an extra 30 acres to handle further expansion. He estimated Salem's population at 13,200 persons.

He concluded saying that the 44 per cent of land in Salem unused in 1955 has now been reduced from 10 to 15 per cent since then.

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer was a guest at the meeting. The speaker was introduced by Ray Lowry, a member of the city planning commission.

15-Year-Old Youth Admits Slaying Girl

KANSAS CITY — The body of pretty 10-year-old Shirley Alice Kyle was found half a mile from her home on the north edge of Kansas City early today, and police arrested a 15-year-old neighbor boy with a record of molesting children.

The boy, Salvatore Joseph Falbo, was picked up in Kansas City after an intensive manhunt through the night.

Detective Verda Reynolds said young Falbo admitted the slaying. He was arrested in the industrial section at the northeast edge of the downtown business district behind an abandoned excavation.

Shirley's body was hidden in tall grass and underbrush of a ravine about six miles from downtown Kansas City.

Her green shorts and striped shirt were partly torn away. There were marks on her face, scratches on her arms and legs. Officers said there were indications she had been strangled and raped.

A throng of 200 searchers had hunted almost six hours after her mother, Mrs. Robert J. Kyle, reported her missing at 7:30 p. m.

Man Faces Prison Term On 30-Year-Old Charge

CLEVELAND — A 66-year-old grandfather must serve a prison term for bootlegging 30 years ago, a federal judge ruled Tuesday.

Judge Paul Jones said he could not revoke the 14-month sentence Harry Gellman received here in 1927. Gellman had pleaded guilty to a violation of the Volstead Act, but disappeared when released on $5,000 bond to give him time to wind up his affairs before entering prison.

After he jumped bond, federal agents traced him to Havana, Cuba, but then lost the trail. April 15, they located him in St. Paul, Minn.

He had lived there for years, under his own name, and was employed as a novelty salesman.

Reds Cool To Troop Reduction Proposal

LONDON — East and West looked to each other today for concrete answers to their latest proposals in the U.N. disarmament talks. Russia so far was cool to the U.S. proposal for a three-stage reduction in troops tied to settlements of world political problems.

The Russians reserved judgment when U.S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen placed before the five-nation Disarmament subcommittee his plan to cut the armed forces of the United States and Russia eventually to 1,700,000 men each.

Pressed For Answer

Pressed by Stassen for comment, Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin told the committee he would have to have a better idea what political settlements the West would require before it would carry the troop reductions through.

In turn, Zorin rapped Stassen's failure to reply to Russia's offer June 14 to admit Western inspectors onto Russian soil if the United States and Britain would agree to a two-or three-year suspension of nuclear weapon tests.

Zorin declared world opinion would not comprehend the West's insistence on linking test suspensions with a ban on production of H-bomb materials.

Dulles Cites Conditions

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference in Washington that the United States would never agree to a trial ban on tests without companion pledges to end production of nuclear materials for weapons and an inspection set-up to enforce the pledges.

In outlining his cutback plan, Stassen set forth the second and third stages for the first time.

In the first stage, he reiterated, the United States would agree at once and without condition to bring U.S. and Soviet armed forces down to 2½ million men each.

As a second step, each country would reduce forces to 21,000,000 men and down to 1,700,000 as a third phase, Britain and France agreed to cut forces to 750,000 in the first stage, 700,000 in the second and 650,000 in the third.

Did Not Specify Problems

Stassen made clear, however, the latter steps could not be taken without progress in settling such problems as the reunification of Germany. He did not specify any other political problems to be solved, but diplomatic informants said Korean unification was one.

Western sources said the second and third steps might hinge, not only on current issues, but on any future problems that might arise.

Man Held For Double Slaying

Accused Of Killing Former Wife, Son

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. — A truck driver accused of slaying his former spouse and son and wounding two others after a wife-trading incident was held on a charge of first-degree murder today.

Police said Thomas Whitaker, 36, shot and killed his former wife Mrs. Alma Whitaker Martin, 39, and their son Jack Whitaker, 10, and wounded his daughter Regina Louanne, 9, and the other man in the wife-swapping case, Stewart Martin, 49, a photographer. They said Whitaker was enraged because he couldn't get court permission to see his children more frequently.

Whitaker was arraigned Tuesday night on a preliminary charge of first-degree murder and Justice of the Peace Lee Easton set bail at $50,000.

The slayings took place at Martin's home in suburban Westwood Tuesday after the two men engaged in a brief gun battle. The couples had been close friends in a Terre Haute dancing club before both obtained divorces last October.

Whitaker married the ex-Mrs. Martin in December and Martin married the ex-Mrs. Whitaker four months later.

Police said Whitaker broke into the Martin house about 2 a.m. by removing the pins from the hinges of a door. He was carrying a 16-gauge double-barrel shotgun.

Martin grabbed a .38-caliber pistol, grappled and exchanged shots with Whitaker and was wounded in the leg.

Martin said his wife locked herself in the bedroom with the children, but that Whitaker broke through the door and shot her and the boy.

The stepfather said he heard the girl beg for her life, promising, "I'll come and live with you" but that a shotgun blast shattered her left arm. She was in critical condition.

Whitaker surrendered at police headquarters after hiding out in woods near the shooting scene for about 11 hours.

Terre Haute police said he signed a statement admitting the slayings. He was quoted as saying he had been thinking it over for a long time because he had suffered a "lot of grief about losing my kids."

Whitaker said he wanted to go to Florida to live and take the children with him last month but was denied custody. He said he drove around three hours Monday night "thinking it over" and decided "to settle it my own way."

AKRON, Ohio — A jury of seven men and five women deliberated four hours Tuesday then convicted three men of the $10,000 Wabash Bar burglary June 17, 1955. It was the second trial for the trio, a previous trial having ended May 3 in a hung jury. Sentencing was withheld pending a new trial motion.

Convicted of breaking and entering and grand larceny were Ernest Foti, 44, Akron; John Lexene, 39, Cleveland; and Arthur LaRiche, 39, Elyria.

Nickerson Court-Martial Fizzles Out

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — The court-martial of Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. has been reduced to a sort of round robin chat on Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's order limiting the Army to 200-mile missiles.

For all practical purposes, as a result of a deal with the government, the trial of the bespectacled 41-year-old missile expert is all over except for his sentencing.

Nickerson is the man who engaged in a one-man fight to have Wilson modify his order and let the army develop and use a 1,500-mile intermediate range ballistic missile.

As a result of the deal, Nickerson pleaded guilty to 15 charges that he permitted sensitive defense information to reach unauthorized persons and was lax in handling secret data. He was promptly convicted.

Before the 10-man court-martial board gets around to fixing Nickerson's punishment, which could amount to dismissal and 30 years in jail, it plans to hear 14 witnesses, including some of the nation's top missile scientists. This probably will take about five days.

Presumably these witnesses will discuss the Wilson order and its effect on the nation's missile program, Nickerson as a person and a scientist, and how the Army's IRBM, the Jupiter, stacks up with the Air Forces' rival missile, the Thor.

U.S. Taking Beating, Says Red Premier

HONG KONG — Premier Chou En-lai told Red China's Parliament today the Communist bloc is riding high and stronger than ever, but the United States is taking a beating all over the map. In a 30,000-word speech at the opening session of Parliament, Chou declared that the unity of the Communist bloc is stronger now than before the Hungarian revolt.

He warned that world peace is constantly threatened by "war preparations under United States leadership." But he said the international situation was generally favorable to peace.

Peiping radio broadcast Chou's address to the session attended by Chairman Mao Tze-tung, other top Red officials and more than 1,000 deputies.

Chou singled out the "remarkable development of the Japanese people's struggle against U.S. armed occupation" as one peace-making factor.

Another, he declared, was a movement towards neutrality in "practically all U.S.-controlled countries" and an anti-American movement on Formosa after the United States stationed guided missiles there.

Chou spoke of a "centrifugal tendency" developing among America's allies as a result of American "seizure of colonial interests in the Middle and Near East, North Africa and other parts of the world."

Boycott Set In Tuskegee

Negroes To Shun Hostile Merchants

TUSKEGEE, Ala. — A boycott of unfriendly white merchants was called Tuesday night for Negro residents who are in the majority in this famed education center.

The president of the Negro Tuskegee Civic Assn. told an overflow church crowd that members of their race should retaliate economically against a legislative act to exclude Negroes from the city. Negroes should "not feed those who would devour us," Charles G. Gomillion told an estimated 2,000 persons to the fervent reply of "amen."

The act passed Friday by the Alabama Legislature redraws boundaries of Tuskegee, now a city of 6,800 persons, so as to exclude most Negro residents.

Negroes now outnumber white persons about 7-3 in the town. About 60 white persons and 420 Negroes are on municipal voting roles. The change, which Gomillion called "gerrymandering," would eliminate all except 10 Negro city voters.

The act is awaiting action by Gov. James E. Folsom. It passed both legislative houses without dissent, indicating easy passage should the governor veto it.

Gomillion, dean of students at Tuskegee Institute, said the association's executive committee recommended that Negroes "stay away from merchants who aren't friendly to us." He later declined to estimate what proportion of businesses would be affected.

Mayor Phil Lightfoot said that by merchants who are not friendly toward Negroes: "I guess they mean all of them." The mayor said a boycott "is bound to have some effect."

Gomillion and several Negro ministers spoke to about 800 persons jammed into a 600-seat church while crowds stood outside.

Major New Church Formed About 2,200,000 Affected By Merger

CLEVELAND — A major new church — molded of the diverse elements of two historic old denominations — emerged on the American scene today.

President Eisenhower sent his commendations, saying: "Now, together, your services to God and neighbor will gain new strength and inspiration."

Merged into a single communion were the national bodies of the Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Affected are about 1,400,000 Congregationalists and 800,000 E. & R. Church members in 8,311 congregations across the country.

Their new denomination: The United Church of Christ.

It was ushered into being Tuesday night with pomp and worship and solemn vows.

Standing before the assemblage, the Rev. Dr. Douglas Horton, a long-time leader in the unification move and now president of Harvard Divinity School, spread his hands and prayed: "O Lord . . . speak peace and ever deeper mutual understanding to us in the years to come . . . Seal our covenant and bless our communion as we yield ourselves to Thee . . ."

The consolidation is the first to breach the wall between the two

Brewster Convicted Of Contempt

WASHINGTON — Frank W. Brewster, vice president of the Teamsters Union was convicted today of contempt of Congress.

U. S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica found Brewster guilty on all 31 counts of an indictment growing out of his refusal to produce records and answer questions before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in January.

Brewster had waived a jury trial and left it to the judge to decide the issues of fact as well as law.

The 60-year-old teamsters official was not present when the judge handed down his decision. He had been given permission to return to his West Coast home and not be on hand for the verdict.

Judge Sirica did not fix a time for imposing sentence. The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and $1,000 fine.

The judge said the Brewster case like all other criminal case will be referred to the court's probation office for a pre-sentence report and investigation. In the meantime Brewster will remain free on bond.

Welfare Director Asks Prosecution of Deserting Fathers

LISBON — The Columbiana County Welfare Department, in a letter to Prosecutor G. William Brokaw, has asked that deserting fathers be brought back to this county and penalized.

Rigby Mast, welfare director, reports about 42 cases of desertion in the county, with some cases dating back as far as 1944 and involving one to seven children in each family. The addresses of about 20 of the fathers are known.

The money spent for each family as of June 1 ranges from $12,532 to $384, or a total of $73,000, Mast said.

The welfare director requests that the prosecutor seek Grand Jury indictments against the deserting fathers, and arrange for extradition where necessary.

Copies of the letter were sent to the county commissioners, and Judges Louis Tobin, Joel H. Sharp and Raymond Buzzard.

A reply was received from Judge Tobin who said, "A wholesale extradition and penitentiary sentences, together with appropriate publicity, would have a marked effect as a deterrent to other deserting fathers who feel there is safety in merely crossing a state line. The costs of these extraditions would be repaid in a lessening in the amount of support by this county to families whose able bodied fathers desert."

"Up there," Albertson said, referring to Ohio Penitentiary, "I'll learn a trade and my wife will be able to get some money to help the kids."

TREND IS REVERSED

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill told the annual governors' meeting here Tuesday that a trend to diminish the powers of the governor and hand over more power to the Legislature has been reversed. He said Ohio's organization has become so completely archaic that it became necessary to undertake a program of mechanization. The program was started in the past six months and has shown good results, he said.

Weygant Says Court Invites Counter-Action By Congress

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court says he believes recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions dealing with attempts to curb Communist activity could stir up possible congressional recommitments.

"I don't know whether they (Supreme Court justices) realize what could happen if Congress gets sufficiently stirred up," he said Tuesday.

Unlike Ohio, where the supreme court's jurisdiction is fixed by state constitution, the Supreme Court in the federal government has its jurisdiction fixed "almost entirely" by Congress, Weygant said.

The chief justice's remarks followed a U.S. Supreme Court order for the Ohio Supreme Court to reconsider its decision upholding the convictions of four Ohioans for contempt of the now defunct Ohio Un-American Activities Commission.

The four are Mrs. Anna Morgan, formerly of Columbus and now living in Illinois; Joseph Stern and Emmett C. Brown of Cincinnati and Talmadge Raley of Sidney. They all invoked the Fifth Amendment at hearings in 1952 when the commission questioned them about alleged communist activity.

The U.S. Supreme Court set aside the Ohio court's conviction of the four on the basis of earlier U. S. Supreme Court decisions reversing the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, a labor leader, and the conviction of Paul M. Sweezy for refusing to answer questions of New Hampshire's attorney general in an investigation of Red activity.

Weir, Former Steel Tycoon, Dies At 81

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Death came today in a Philadelphia hospital for Ernest T. Weir, 81-year-old steelmaster, ardent champion of business' right to operate without interference by the government.

For many years prior to his retirement last April as board chairman and chief executive officer of National Steel Corp., Weir had been the only founder of a steel firm who continued to hold executive office in his company. National is the nation's fifth largest steel producer.

Cause of death was not disclosed immediately by the company spokesman, who said only that Weir had died in a Philadelphia hospital of complications following a heart attack.

President Rene Coty of France holds no press conferences, but he received newspapermen along with his other visitors.

200 New Jersey Homes Change Color Overnight

RUTHERFORD, N. J. (AP) — The State Board of Health was making tests today to find out just how and why some 200 homes in nearby Lyndhurst had changed color overnight.

Residents of the homes woke up Tuesday morning startled to find that paint on their houses had changed color. Hardest hit were some 30 homes whose white frames had turned to dark brown during the night. The discoloration could not be removed with water.

Mrs. Miriam Sachs, head of the state's Bureau of Adult and Occupational Health Division, said a chemical reaction may have caused the discoloration.

Police said one theory advanced was that sulfuric fumes released from stagnant water, combined with heat, reacted with certain lead properties in the paint, causing the discoloration.

Four To Be On Ballots In November

Ohio Constitutional Changes Will Be Decided By Voters

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 102nd General Assembly left to voters the final decision on five changes in the State Constitution.

Four of the questions will go on ballots next November; the fifth a year later.

Three of the proposed constitutional amendments are designed to make it easier for metropolitan areas to clear up the muddle over services in fast-growing suburbs. The three-ply approach would:

Exempt municipal water and sewage plants from the 50 per cent restriction on sale of utility services outside city limits.

Simplify Charter Process

Simplify the process by which counties may adopt charters.

Permit formation of metropolitan foundations embracing all or part of a county containing cities of more than 50,000 population in which the county, municipalities and townships would have concurrent or exclusive powers. The third proposal will go before voters in 1958.

The other proposed changes would remove the one-year residence requirement for appointive state officials and a similar provision requiring voters to live in Ohio a year before they can ballot for president and vice president.

The proposal to change the restriction on appointment of "outsiders" to top administration posts received the backing of Gov. C. William O'Neill.

His support followed administration difficulty in hiring a former New Jersey turnpike official, described as one of the nation's foremost road builders, to direct Ohio's billion dollar highway construction program.

Must Serve as Secretary

Because of the residence restriction, Charles M. Noble of Princeton, N. J., must serve for a year as secretary to the governor in charge of highways before he can officially become state highway director. The cabinet post carries the state's top salary of $30,000 a year, $5,000 more than O'Neill receives.

Legislative hearings on the water proposal elicited testimony that some cities in the next decade could sell more water to outside consumers than to their own residents. Expanding suburbs would have to build their own water systems unless the constitutional 50 per cent limit is lifted, it was claimed.

Easier adoption of county charter government seeks a way over an almost insurmountable "hurdle."

Must Clear Four Hurdles

A charter proposal vesting municipal power in a county must clear four "hurdles" for adoption. The proposal must win approval of a majority of voters in the county, the largest municipality, the township outside that municipality and in each of a majority of the combined total of municipalities and townships in the county.

The latter "hurdle" makes adoption of a county charter virtually impossible.

The proposed change requires only a simple majority of all voters in a county for approval of a county form of government with concurrent powers. A provision especially designed for Cuyahoga County would permit adoption of a charter with exclusive powers in counties of more than half a million population. The four "hurdles" still would apply if the new government sought exclusive powers in less populous counties.

Powers of metropolitan federations, whether concurrent or exclusive, must be spelled out in a charter drafted by a 15-member elective commission. A federation must have an elective legislative authority and principal executive officer.

Participation Limited

Participation in the distribution of township, municipal and county revenues would be limited to the extent such powers were delegated by those units to the federation.

Approval of federation charters would require popular vote majorities in the entire federation area, in the most populous city and in the area outside that city.

A procedure is provided in the proposal for municipalities and townships within the same county to join a federation in existence.

A popular vote on the question of choosing a federation charter commission could be called by a two-thirds vote of the largest city's council, by county commissioners or upon petition by electors.

Highly Questionable

The two laws proposed by the bipartisan Commission on Government Security are both highly questionable.

One of them would make it a federal offense for a newspaperman to publish "secret" information. It would be obviously unconstitutional.

It would be a clear violation of the First Amendment, which states that "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging . . . freedom of the press."

What newspapers publish cannot be controlled in any way by federal law. But when national security is concerned, newspapers can police their own news columns and deal first-hand with employees who break the rules. This was demonstrated during World War II.

The other proposed law would authorize wiretapped evidence in court proceedings against accused subversives. It runs contrary to the credo that the only way to keep wiretappers at bay in the nation is to keep them from becoming legally respectable, no matter what kind of eavesdropping they do.

Wire tapping will continue, of course. There is no way to stop it. But it need not be stimulated by making it admissible as evidence.

Fortunately, only these two laws are recommended by the commission's majority report. Its other recommendations could be put into effect by executive orders.

Whether they will be or not is a White House decision that has not been foreshadowed by any word from President Eisenhower. Federal security has dropped out of the news. It is assumed that the problems of loyalty and security which plagued the United States during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations have been put under control by closer surveillance than existed before the extent of the problem was revealed in a series of atomic-spy convictions.

The plan proposed by the commission for setting up an independent security office may be horse is stolen.

Shadow And Substance

The similarity between the court-martial of Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. and the historic court-martial of the late William Mitchell runs deeper than surface indications.

In both cases, the nominal charge—insubordination against Mitchell, releasing secret information on guided missiles against Nickerson—was the fuse to set off the real charge.

Mitchell's offense was to believe that air power had made battleships obsolete, and this involved him in a fight between the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Army, which was the original sponsor of air power.

Nickerson's offense is to believe that the Army should be allowed to share fully in development of long-range guided missiles, and this has involved him in a fight between the Army and the now independent Air Force, which claims sole rights over long-range missiles.

That is the substance of his offense, as will be revealed in the testimony. The shadow has no more real bearing on the case than the charge of insubordination against the outspoken Mitchell.

The Nickerson hearing should be followed with this fact in mind: The defendant is being called to account for what he believes, not for what he revealed.

Reassurance By Bing

Bing Crosby, whose judgment of musical taste runs back a number of years and is backed by financial success in seven digits, has told a congressional investigation what some of the rest of us have suspected about some "hits" we've been hearing.

In his opinion, too, they are low blows. They are tunes plugged systematically by one music outfit which is in competition with another music outfit. Crosby declares there has been no radical change in public taste, nor any unanimous failure of talent among established songwriters. There has been, instead, a systematic exclusion of songwriters with proved ability.

This makes more sense than the other idea ever made — that suddenly the American public had developed a taste for caterwauling and cacophony.

Thanks, Bing, old-timer. "When the b-b-b-blue of the night meets the gold of the day," we'll still take your word for what makes a tune.

Tough For Benny

Everybody who prayed for Benny Hooper Jr. to get out of that 24-foot hole in the ground alive a few weeks ago should be adding a prayer now for Benny to come out of the after-math without mental injury.

The squabbling and fighting over the cash and credit involved are adding no luster to the grownups whose acquaintance the child made under such dramatic circumstances. It is a tough assignment for a 7-year-old boy.

Chin up, Benny. It takes all kinds to make a world. You have to sort 'em out as you go along. You will still be sorting when you are 70.

Supreme Court Ghosts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Law Clerks Have Hand In Writing Opinions

Who really writes the decisions of the Supreme Court justices? Do they use "ghost writers" as presidents occasionally do? Should the public be told what part of a decision is actually written by a justice and what part is the composition of his law clerk? Is this a "right to know" privilege which the press has been insisting on lately?

David Lawrence
These questions have arisen not only because of the occasional expressions and phrasing which appear in Supreme Court opinions that seem conspicuously different from the accustomed writings of a justice in his previous career but because the whole subject has just been opened up by the commission on government security.

This commission of 12 prominent citizens, appointed by the President and by the Senate and the House, issued last week a recommendation that hereafter the judicial branch of the government should "take effective steps to insure that its employees are loyal and otherwise suitable from the standpoint of national security."

Can it be that the commission was thinking about Alger Hiss, who served in the 1930's as a law clerk to a Supreme Court justice now dead?

THERE WERE said to be discussions about this and its implications among the members of the commission before it reached its conclusions. Here is what the commission says in its formal report:

"It is fundamental that there should be no reasonable doubt concerning the loyalty of any federal employee in any of the three branches of the government."

"In the judicial branch, the possibilities of disloyal employees causing damage to the national security are ever present. As an example, federal judges, busy with the ever-crowded court calendars, must rely upon assistants to prepare briefing papers for them."

"False or biased information inadvertently reflected in court opinions in crucial security, constitutional, governmental or social issues of national importance could cause severe effects to the nation's security and to our federal loyalty-security system generally."

"There appears to be no valid reason why an employee of the judicial branch should not be screened, at least as to his basic loyalty to the United States."

"Certainly the judiciary proper and the public generally should have the assurance that the men and women who carry the administrative responsibilities of the courts or assist in the preparation of decisions are loyal, dependable Americans."

"THE COMMISSION therefore recommends, as in the case of the legislative branch, that the judicial branch and the executive branch endeavor to work out a program under which adequate investigation or screening can be provided for all judicial employees."

One member of the commission on security recorded a "vigorous dissent" on this phase of the problem. He is James P. McGranery, formerly a federal judge and later attorney general in the Truman administration.

He writes that "no evidence was presented at commission conferences tending to indicate" that there ever was any judge on the bench anywhere in the federal courts who was thus imposed upon.

It will be news to many people that the Supreme Court justices are dependent to some extent on their law clerks in writing their opinions.

For years it has been an open secret around Washington that the big eastern law schools selected their top scholars for a year's service as "law clerks" to Supreme Court justices.

Today, when so-called "liberalism" amounts almost to a fanaticism, some of the law school professors engage in active campaigns to advance publicly the views with which they indoctrinate their students.

THE BOOK on the Fifth Amendment written by Dean Griswold of the Harvard Law School was exploited and widely distributed by the "Fund for the Republic."

In its annual report, the same foundation admits that, out of the 5 million dollars it has already spent, much of it has been for distributing literature of this kind and other "educational" materials on the subject of "communism" and congressional investigations.

What part do such so-called "liberal" law professors play in selecting law clerks for Supreme Court justices?

Maybe the Congress ought to appropriate enough money so that each justice of the Supreme Court could enjoy the bipartisan luxury of two so-called "liberal" and two so-called "Conservative" law clerks.

Maybe the Supreme Court opinions would be better balanced then. At least, they might be more accurate as to facts. Last week, for example, Chief Justice Warren's opinion criticizing congressional investigations said that "in the decade following World War II, there appeared a new kind of congressional inquiry unknown in prior periods of American history" and that "this new phase of legislative inquiry involved a broad-scale intrusion into the lives and affairs of private citizens."

JUST WHY it was not realized by someone who went over the manuscript that Rep. Martin Dies, conducted for seven years — from 1938 to 1945 — exactly the same kind of hearings for the House Committee on Un-American Activities as were conducted "in the decade following World War II" is somewhat puzzling.

Did the law clerks fail to read anything about those seven years of the Dies committee?

What the justice evidently need to worry about in connection with "law clerks" is not "security" but accuracy.

Space Travel Insurance

By GORDON HARRIS

Better check your life insurance policy before you board the first rocket to Mars on the moon.

In view of current satellite projects and predictions that outer space exploration is a possibility, several of the largest U.S. life insurance companies were queried on rates for this kind of protection.

Three replied that existing life policies would probably extend into outer space. But all indicated they do not now contemplate special policies for crews or passengers in satellite vehicles or space ships.

"It would seem the market for such policies will be rather limited in the foreseeable future," commented Frank H. David, Associate actuarial director for the Prudential Insurance Co., of Newark.

The John Hancock Mutual Company of Boston said it has no present means of insuring space voyagers.

"For the present at least and until these fields are more fully developed, we do not contemplate providing accident coverage for crew members or passengers of satellite space stations or space ships engaged in interplanetary travel," according to Harry Barsantee, manager of public information for the Travelers Companies.

Prudential and the Metropolitan Life Company of New York City indicated that existing life insurance may cover you against the hazards of cosmic radiation, meteorites, or unknown factors which may be encountered in the vacuum of outer space.

Budget Out Of Control

By RAYMOND MOLEY

When the President of the United States and his competent secretary of the treasury admit that a proposed budget is the best they can make of the financial affairs of the government and that they hope Congress can make sense out of it, we should be wary of danger.

And when, after months of hullabaloo and messing around, Congress makes no progress in the job of improvement, the fact should be known to all that under present conditions the whole business is out of control.

This fact has been evident to informed people for some time, but nothing has been done about it. The first Hoover Commission said as much eight years ago.

The second Hoover Commission repeated the warning two years ago.

Congress has been eager to buy political advantage by authorizing projects for which there is no money to execute. It has thus piled up an immense mountain of vague obligations.

It also has appropriated billions that have not been spent.

PRESIDENTS, who are not without blame, have had a series of budget directors who have not really directed anything, while the great office of the comptroller general has not been able to do much controlling.

Meanwhile, there has been legislation more or less in the dark. Under a system which uses the rather ambiguous term "obligational authority" there is no means of reviewing annually all past fiscal commitments.

In addition to money appropriated at the current session of Congress, there are "unexpended balances" greater than the total amount requested by the President for the next fiscal year.

There came to a figure some-where between 70 billion and 80 billion dollars.

On the first of next month, even with all prospective economies deducted, the executive branch of the government will have authority to spend something like 140 billion dollars.

This staggering sum, according to Sen. Byrd, is probably almost equal to "half the full assessed value of all the land, all the buildings, all the mines, all the machinery, all the factories, all the livestock, everything of tangible value, in the United States."

IT IS NOT only half of all that the United States is worth in dollars, but the complication is compounded by the fact that, in addition to this mountainous commitment, the government owes its people 275 billion dollars.

That is not the whole story. There are also 250 billion in "contingent" liabilities. These are obligations which the government has guaranteed in case they materialize, including, Sen. Byrd reminds us, 40 billion in possible losses in public housing.

Consider, if you will, an individual in a mess like this. He owes more than he owns. He has gone on notes for friends for half of what he owns. And he is already making contracts to spend another half of what he owns.

SUCH AN individual would, if there were any power over him, either be denied any further control or authority, or be put in jail. For he is not only bankrupt but he makes out new checks and piles up additional debts.

A partial corrective for this dreadful condition was recommended by the Hoover Commission and was enacted by the Senate last year. The House failed to act.

A similar bill has again been passed by the Senate. It had the sponsorship of 48 members on both sides of the aisle. It now goes to the House.

The Airwave Interview

In a dream last night the big bad wolf in the famous nursery tale of Little Red Riding Hood was presented by a national network in a "Pace the Nation" TV show. What fun! And it didn't seem so farfetched, at that.

THE WOLF, which in the dream was named "Bunny," sat at a long table in an imposing room and was interviewed by world correspondents. (He had taken a beauty treatment and looked wonderful.) The interview, as we recall it, ran:

Q. In opening this interview, would you tell the TV audience what is the agricultural situation in your country as you see it.

A. Never have I felt better about spinach. And this is a great day for corn, too. But let us get down to what you really want to know.

Q. Very well. There has been a feeling that you are not well disposed to little girls carrying baskets of food to grandmothers. Are you prepared to answer this?

A. That is a foul canard employed by the capitalistic press. I have always been as friendly to baskets of food as anybody else. I have often suggested a world basket conference at the Summit.

Q. Would you be willing to scrap baskets and permit inspections to make sure no little girls were carrying them to grandmothers and possibly creating trouble?

A. This is a matter calling for careful discussion. I might ask who is responsible for the idea that Red Riding Hood was carrying a basket of food? There is evidence she was carrying concealed weapons.

Q. Would you care to give your side of the widely circulated charge that you ate grandmother, got into her nightgown and would have devoured Little R.R.H.L. had it not been for woodsmen rescuers?

A. The whole charge is an old fiction, a hatching up of Anglo-American block slurs. As the whole world knows, I am the founder of the Be Kind to Grandmothers League. Grandmothers everywhere have a right to live their own way and I would never impose my will on them.

Q. But you ate this particular one, didn't you?

A. You are letting yourself be a tool of the Free World conspiracy to surround me. There was no grandmother in the cottage where I was there.

Q. What were you doing in her nightgown?

A. That was no nightgown. It was the official robe of the visitors chapter of our grandmother's protective organization. I always carried it with me just in case.

Q. Why did you deceive her granddaughter and pretend you were grannie?

A. There was no deception. Little Red Riding Hood was a party member and trusted me implicitly. She did not come to see her grandmother. She came to deliver my copy of Pravda!

EDDIE ARCARO, president of the Jockeys' Guild, has hired a lawyer to fight to have Washington include jockeys in proposed legislation to adjust income taxes so that in sports the tax "bite" during the relatively few peak years of an athlete's life will not be too deep.

Eddie is so rich that every time he gets on horseback he practically has two revenue agents in the saddle with him.

The best he can hope for during any race is that he will get no worse than a photo finish with the tax collectors.

IT FLOORED US this week to see pictures of a class of "old grads," a quarter century out of college, which included Albie Booth, famed Yale football star. Yes sir, Albie graduated away back in 1932, but he seems only yesterday that he was romping up and down the Yale Bowl as one of the most elusive pulsing grid stars of all time.

Allstate takes the red tape and high cost out of automobile insurance

Customer savings of more than 20% are commonplace

Founded by Sears,
Allstate pioneered a new approach to insurance that has won nearly four million friends

You can buy over the counter
at Sears, at Allstate Insurance Centers, or in your own home

You'll be a friend of Allstate's too, as soon as you become a customer—and realize the benefits you'll enjoy because of Allstate's new approach to auto insurance.

This approach, based on the small-profit, big-volume, low-overhead concept pioneered by Sears, boils down to this:

Cut red tape in paying claims... print policies in large type and plain language... make it easy to buy insurance in a relaxed manner.

How much can you save? Allstate policyholders save different amounts, depending on different risk conditions and on where they live. The most common saving is 22% (some policyholders save as much as 38%) from rates charged by most other companies. You may save $25 or more.

How can Allstate do it?

Nearly $1 in every $4 spent with most companies goes to pay selling costs instead of to buy protection. Allstate's modern selling methods cut selling costs to the bone. You benefit by lower rates, bigger value.

Cuts red tape.

Allstate has more than 3,950 claims expeditors in the 48 states and Canada. Help is always as near as the nearest phone. And Allstate claims experts can often pay claims "on the spot."

Easy to understand policies.

Printed in readable type, understandable language. Illustrated, too. You know exactly what you're buying.

Low-pressure selling.

You can buy Allstate over the counter at Sears, at an Allstate Insurance Center, or in your own home. Allstate Agents are listed in the Yellow Pages of your phone book.

Today, with auto insurance costs rising, wouldn't it be wise for you to investigate Allstate before you renew your policy? Until you have the Allstate facts, you don't have all the facts about auto insurance.

This modern kind of automobile insurance brings these surprising benefits:

1. Allstate may save you up to 38%.
2. Allstate cuts red tape to pay claims faster.
3. An Allstate policy is easy to read and understand.
4. Allstate makes it easy for you to buy the convenient low-pressure way.

Labor Union Inquiry Set Today

Challenge To Authority Of Committee Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hruska (R-Neb.) said in advance of a Senate Internal Security subcommittee hearing today he expects the group's authority to be challenged under recent Supreme Court decisions.

He said he had "an idea we will meet with an assertion of immunity" when the subcommittee attempts to question two witnesses called to testify in an inquiry into communism in labor unions.

The two witnesses are Howard V. Trautman and Salvatore Testa, both of New York City. Both are members of the American Communications Assn., an independent union the subcommittee has accused of being Communist led.

Hruska said that if the immunity question is raised, the subcommittee is prepared to assert the basis of its authority and the relationship between its legislative objectives and its line of questioning.

Hruska said he favored establishing such a record in an effort to test the subcommittee's power under Senate resolutions authorizing its operation.

Questioning of Trautman and Testa originally was scheduled last week. It was deferred after their lawyer, Victor Rabinowitz, also of New York asked for time to study the Supreme Court's ruling in the Watkins case.

In this case, decided June 17, the court reversed the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, an Illinois labor organizer who refused before the House Committee on Un-American Activities to name past Communist associates.

He did so on grounds of conscience. He also challenged the pertinency of the House committee's questions.

The court's 6-1 decision, written by Chief Justice Warren, said the congressional investigating power "cannot be inflated into a general power to expose where the predominant result can only be an invasion of the private rights of individuals."

The court also said congressional committees must be more specific in their questioning and that Congress must be more precise in defining the jurisdiction and purposes of its committees.

Guarding Your Health

By DR. EDWIN P. JORDAN

Gout

Although gout is not one of our most common diseases, it is something about which nearly everyone has heard. This is perhaps because of references in so many of the Victorian novels to the English port-drinking squire suffering from an acute attack of the disease.

Be that as it may, it is an interesting and important disorder. Recently one correspondent has inquired about it in connection with her 72-year-old father, who is afflicted with it, and another because her 59-year-old husband gets attacks twice a year.

It is claimed that gout is one of the most painful of all human disorders and those who have had an attack will certainly agree as do many doctors who have observed acute attacks in others.

The cause of gout is not known, although there are several curious things about it which one would expect would give a clue. It is principally a disease of men. Although much less frequent in women, the few women who do have it may develop a severe chronic stage of the disease as bad as that of men.

A typical attack is likely to start with terrific pain at the base of one of the big toes. Sometimes other joints are involved. This pain is sharp and frequently awakens the victim from a sound sleep in the middle of the night. The joint is extremely tender — so much so that even the weight of the bedclothes may be too much to bear.

Overindulgence in food often seems to bring on an attack. Many patients with gout report an unusually rich or large meal before the first attack, such as a steak dinner or a large amount of wine or other alcoholic beverage.

Gout is associated with certain foods which contain substances called purines. Liver, sweetbreads, kidney, squab and calf's tongue are rich in the amounts of purines which they contain. Other foods like sausage, beef, pork, veal and several kinds of fish also have a lot of purines and are not safe for the sufferer from gout.

By proper knowledge of diet and sometimes by the addition of one or two drugs, it is often possible to prevent attacks of acute gout, or at least to make them come less often. Most important in the control of gout is the drug, Benemid, the use of which for the past few years has enormously improved the physician's ability to manage gout successfully.

Man's Crazy?

By HAL BOYLE

WESTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP)—Is a man crazy if he gives up a successful career as a lawyer to run a summer resort?

"He has to be—there's no doubt of it," amiably said Hyman Chesler, who did just that nine years ago.

His excuse is that he really didn't do it deliberately. But today the crinkly faced little former attorney, "mine host" at the Dune Deck, a fabulous gathering place for social notables and entertainment celebrities, wouldn't give a strawberry tart for all the torts in the world.

"It's a risky thing to switch careers in midlife," he admitted. "And in the beginning I did miss the courtroom. But not now. I haven't the time."

There are two things the average man feels he can run better than those who have the job—the government and a summer resort. "Hy" is no exception.

Back in 1948, when Dune Deck was put on sale, Chesler decided to buy it.

He soon found that a liking for people and a love of good food aren't enough to make a successful resort operator.

"The biggest weakness of this business," said Hy, "is that you are at the mercy of things beyond your control. A fresh winter—three days of bad weather in a row—these things can undo all your efforts."

"One of the first things you learn is that you have to worry more about pleasing your help than you do pleasing the guests. Keeping your help happy is the real trick. If they feel wrong, you're dead. If they're happy, they'll keep the guests happy."

"The resort of hotel business isn't really a business. No really smart man would risk his money in it. You simply have to take it as a way of life."

Hy and his wife Serena, a former schoolteacher, follow the sun. After the 10-week season here, they spend the winter in Andros island in the Bahamas, where they operate the equally luxurious Lighthouse Club.

Years of listening to other people's vacation woes have made Chesler, who is naturally sensitive and sympathetic, into a philosopher.

"All a man has to do to feel better is to brood more about how he can help the other fellow—then do something about it," he says.

UN Rejects Bid On Conference

N. Korea Demand Gets China Support

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Communist North Korea today called for a broad international conference to arrange the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea and bring about a peaceful solution to the problem of the divided peninsula.

The demand, made at a meeting of the Joint Military Armistice Commission, was promptly rejected by the U.N. Command as not a proper subject to be taken up at a military conference.

A few hours later Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, speaking to his Parliament in Peiping, gave full support of the conference proposal and denounced U.S. policy in Korea.

The Communists put the conference demand forward as a reply to the U.N. command decision to avoid the armistice provision prohibiting the introduction of new weapons into Korea. The U.N. told the Communists at a commission meeting last Friday that new weapons would be brought into South Korea because the Reds had consistently violated the arms ban since a cease-fire ended the Korean fighting in 1953.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Chung Kook Rook presented the Communist demand and repeated the charge he made last Friday that the U.N. Allies were preparing for a new war by "wrecking" the armistice.

"Your side does not want a peaceful settlement in Korea," Chung declared. "This has been shown in the past. It was your side which broke up the preliminary political negotiations at Panmunjom and the Geneva conference for settlement of the Korean problem."

He asserted that the armistice agreement of July 27, 1953, was a bilateral agreement and said any unilateral action — such as the U.N. decision to bring in new weapons — is null and void.

The North Korean government, Chung said, "re-emphasizes that . . . an international conference with a broad participation by the countries concerned must be convened at an early date to arrange the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea, to guarantee a lasting peace and to facilitate a peaceful solution of the Korean question."

"If the U.N. side insists on following the present policy," he added, "your side must be held entirely responsible for all the serious consequences arising therefrom."

The Communist general did not elaborate on that point.

The U.N. Command chief, U.S. Marine Corps Maj. Gen. Homer L. Litzberg, replied that the questions raised by Chung were "no proper subjects to be discussed at a military conference."

"Therefore they are rejected," Litzberg added that the governments making up the U.N. Command tried to work out a peaceful and just settlement of the Korean problem at the Geneva conference "in line with the U.N. objectives in Korea."

"The governments of the U.N. Command remain ready to discuss withdrawal of forces and unification on the basis of U.N. objectives," the U.N. spokesman said.

"Until your side is prepared to settle the Korean question on these just objectives," he added, "any political conference would only result in a deadlock because of Communist intransigence."

Litzberg said the U.N. Command was forced to scrap the armistice clause banning new weapons because Communist actions had left the armistice agreement "in default." As an ex-

Bank Bandit Suspect Eludes Law Officers

Boy Wrecks Stolen Car On Lisbon Rd.

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Law officers continued searching this area today for the second of two men suspected of robbing the Lucas State Bank in Richland County of $8,500 Tuesday.

Highway patrolmen, police and sheriff's deputies captured one suspect, identified as Elmer D. Chronister of Wooster, within an hour after the holdup.

The bank, located in Lucas, a town about seven miles southeast of Mansfield on Ohio 39, was robbed shortly after noon by a white man and a Negro.

The men rifled cash drawers behind the counter, but fled when a customer walked in as they were starting for the bank vault.

Police said the pair headed their sedan east on Ohio 39. An Ashland County deputy sheriff spotted it and alerted other authorities who set up roadblocks. The suspects' car was stopped near Ashland. Chronister was taken into custody by the other man, a Negro, escaped in the vicinity before the auto was stopped.

Officers from Ashland, Richland, Knox, Huron and Wayne counties joined in the search for the second man.

Mossi Scatters 8 Hits As Tribe Blasts Yankees 11-2

Cleveland Gets Twelve Hits

Colavito Belts First Grand Slam Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Cleveland Manager Kerby Farrell has yet to complete his first year as a major league pilot, but already he has been plagued with more adversity than a manager usually encounters in a lifetime.

Tuesday night, however, was one of his brighter moments. His Tribe thumped the New York Yankees, 11-2, knocked the Bombers from first place, and gained a measure of revenge for three drubbings when the rivals met last in Cleveland.

Before 37,636 fans Don Mossi went the distance, scattering eight hits, including a second inning home run by Andy Carey which cost him a shutout. Elston Howard was on base with a double.

Mickey Mantle went hitless and got the ball out of the infield only once in five trips. His average fell eight points to .382. Bill Skowron, second hottest Yankee hitter, also went hitless. Mossi didn't give a walk and struck out three.

The Indians got 12 hits, five off starter Tom Sturdivant who was routed in the third inning. Russ Nixon belted his first major league homer with Roger Maris on base when the Indians scored three in the second inning to take a lead they never gave up. Rocky Colavito hit the first grand slam homer of his major league career in the ninth off Al Cicotte. It was Rocky's 11th home run this season.

A walk, singles by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling, and a double by Roger Maris produced the three runs that chased Sturdivant in the third.

Mossi helped his own cause with a triple in the fourth. He came home on Wertz's single.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Joseph Moran, 15, who played on Ursuline High School's unbeaten football team last fall, was drowned in Lake Milton Tuesday. He and two other boys attempted to swim an inlet east of the Route 18 bridge. He went down in 15-foot-deep water when he was within 10 feet of completing the 140-foot distance.

Columbus Man Tries For 10th Golf Championship In 13 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Allen Rankin, 64-year-old Columbus bank executive, goes after his 10th Ohio Seniors golf championship in 13 years tomorrow.

The Capital City star, "winningest" golfer in Buckeye history, will face the biggest field in the history of the "50 and over" tournament which started in 1939. It's scheduled at Scioto Country Club, with more than 208 registered for the two-day 36-hole medal play test.

Tony Vitt of Cleveland in 1948, Walter Cope of Lima in 1953, and John Valuska of Steubenville in 1955, are the only men who have been able to break Rankin's victory string, which started in 1945. The record field of 204 "antics," ranging from the half-century mark to the eighties, was set a year ago. But Bill Margraf, secretary of the sponsoring Ohio Golf Assn., said 208 had registered up to Tuesday and that at least 11 more would be ready to go at tee time of 7:56 a.m. (EST) tomorrow.

A year ago Margraf limited the "75 and over" contingent to nine holes each day. He said he did it as a "precautionary measure to safeguard their health," but he ran into a storm of protests from the oldsters. The result is that all will go the full 18 holes each day. In addition to the Bowman Trophy which goes to the 36-hole low scorer, 17 other prizes will be awarded. The tournament has been divided into six age classes, with the winner and runnerup in each getting a trophy. Others go to the low net scorers, and to those having the best 18-hole rounds.

Margraf said quite a new newcomers, who have just skipped over the half-century mark, will be in the field to challenge Rankin's long reign.

Collegians Lead NCAA Golf Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—A pair of slender, par-busting collegians led a field of 64 into the first round of matched play today in the 60th annual NCAA golf championships, already the scene of sparkling performances.

The list of contestants was completed this morning when 11 golfers, all tied with 156s, staged a sudden-death playoff for six spots needed to fill out the 64 finalists.

Lanky Roger Rubendall of Wisconsin, 22, the former Big Ten champion and son of a Freeport, Ill., club professional, and Warren Simmons, 19-year-old Syracuse University junior, bettered par by two strokes over the 6,897-yard Broadmoor course Tuesday for medalist honors and the co-favorites' role in the meet which ends Saturday.

Rubendall was tied for 10th and virtually ignored as Simmons flashed around the course in a record 69 Monday. But he came out of nowhere and sliced four strokes off par Tuesday with a remarkable 68, which included 14 pars and 4 birdies.

Soviets Snoop At Wimbledon

Russians Taking Notes On Everything

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—The Russians, who used to say lawn tennis was too bourgeois for words, are snooping around Wimbledon trying to learn what makes the place tick.

Their object is to learn enough to send a contingent of Soviet tennis players here in a year or two. They want to compete in what is regarded as the world championship for amateurs.

The Russians said they are not just interested in playing styles. They say they want to see how officials of the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club run the tournament.

Russian state trainer Semen Belitz-Geman and his 17 followers make notes on everything—from the number of ball boys used on the center court to the time allowed for refreshment as the players change sides.

The Russians say their players are not ready yet to enter Wimbledon or the Davis Cup competition. But chief coach Belitz-Geman left the impression that when they did throw their players into international competition they would be ready for the world's best. They might be ready in two years, he suggested.

Belitz-Geman said they were trying to make lawn tennis a "mass game" for the Russians. "Five years ago we had only 25,000 players. Now we have about 40,000," he said.

Today the Russians watched the men playing second round matches with defending champion Lew Hoad of Australia against South African Trevor Fancutt. Second-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia had a tough match on his hands against Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt, winner in 1954, but unseeded this time.

Legal Status Of Sports Studied

Key Baseball Figures Testify On Proposed Franchise Moves

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House subcommittee studying sports legislation hears today from some key figures on the big question of when—or whether—the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Giants will move to the West Coast.

Dodgers President Walter O'Malley and Giant President Horace Stoneham were called to give the basic story.

The subcommittee probing the legal status of professional team sports, began Tuesday to assemble a picture of what the baseball world would look like after a Dodger-Giant migration.

Warren Giles, president of the National League, repeated essentially what Commissioner Ford Frick told the subcommittee last week: there are still many problems to be solved; nobody now knows definitely whether the Dodgers and Giants finally will decide to move.

Giles gave some clues as to how an ocean-to-ocean league might operate.

Mileage traveled would more than double—to 218,300 miles. The 2,500-mile hops would have to be by plane. The extra cost to each club would be $35,000. To break even would require drawing 125,000 more people in Los Angeles and San Francisco than were drawn in Brooklyn and New York.

Giles said the question of damage to the Pacific Coast League clubs would have to be settled by arbitration if voluntary agreements were not reached, with the "invading" clubs picking up the bill.

Floral plants will be given to children registering at the various city playgrounds each day this week, in preparation for the flower show which will be held this summer.

The plants, which are being donated by McArtor, Theiss and Endres-Gross florists, will be taken home by the children to be planted and to be judged later in the summer at the flower show.

Kluszewski Singles In Winning Run

Redlegs Defeat Giants 3-2 As Burgess Hits 2 Homers

CINCINNATI (AP) — The plate power punch of Cincinnati's Redlegs plus some shrewd hurling by Brooks Lawrence has proved the key to stalling—for the moment, at least—the midsummer drive of the New York Giants.

Two home runs by Smoky Burgess and a run-making pinch-hit single with the bases loaded by Ted Kluszewski accounted for the Redlegs' 3-2 victory over New York Tuesday night.

But the win that moved the Redlegs within five percentage points of the National League leader wasn't decided until the ninth inning.

The Reds had put two men on in the seventh and eighth innings, yet still couldn't snap a 2-2 tie that had lasted from the fourth.

No decision came until Giant reliever Al Worthington yielded Big Klu's winning safety.

Lawrence, steadily improving after a rocky start this season, collected his eighth win against four losses and strung the Giants up on four hits.

The Redlegs belted 10 hits around Crosley Field, but the big ones were Burgess' two straight blasts.

The Reds were behind, 2-0, when he pumped his first homer over the rightfield screen in the second inning. On his next time around in the fourth inning, he parked the ball in the rightfield bleachers.

A home run in the first inning by Danny O'Connell had given the Giants a one-run jump on the Reds.

New York added another marker in the second inning when Daryl Spencer walked and reached third on a single, then galloped home when Ray Kat hit into a double play.

But from there on, Lawrence

Detroit Hands Washington 7-4 Defeat In 10 Innings

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati's Redlegs are still in business in that National League dog fight, climbing within five percentage points of the lead after three question-mark guys—"Lucky" Brooks Lawrence, sore-backed Ted Kluszewski and squat-swatter Smoky Burgess—helped junk a 4-13 slump.

All three had a hand in Tuesday night's 3-2 decision over the New York Giants that hoisted the Redlegs, who now have won six of seven, onto almost even terms with the idle first-place St. Louis Cardinals.

Lawrence, target of jests belittling his 19 victories of last year, four-hit the Giants to win his eighth. Burgess' two home runs kept the Redlegs in the game and Klu's two-out pinch single in the ninth bagged it.

The race got even chummier as Brooklyn's southpaw rookie Danny McDevitt four-hit Milwaukee 2-0. That upped idle Philadelphia to third, 1½ games back, spilled the Braves to fourth, also 1½ shy, and raised the fifth-place Brooks within two games of the leaders.

In the American, Chicago's White Sox shook off that lost weekend in New York to regain a half-game lead with a 2-1 victory that cut Boston's winning streak at six games. Third-place Cleveland plunked the Yankees back to second with an 11-2 pasting.

Detroit, blasted by Manager Jack Tighe, came from behind to beat Washington 7-4 in 10 innings for a full share of fourth place again. And Baltimore handed Kansas City a sixth consecutive defeat 5-0 on Billy Loes' three-hit pitching.

Chicago's Cubs quit the cellar in the other NL game, dropping Pittsburgh into eighth place with a 5-3 decision over the Pirates.

Lawrence, a 32-year-old right-hander, gave up a 2-0 Giant lead before Burgess went to work on loser Ray Crone and tied it. The Redlegs calmed down until the ninth, when reliever Al Worthington walked two to load the bases. Then came Klu.

The Dodgers collected only four hits themselves, two by Duke Snider, who wallowed his 15th home run in the first inning before Lew Burdette closed the door and retired 17 in a row. Snider also scored an unearned run in the ninth.

McDevitt gained his second complete game while giving up just four singles. He walked six, struck out six.

Walt Drope, who hit eight home runs last season, wallowed his ninth of '57 with a man on in the seventh inning to break up Dave Sisler's three-hit shutout duel with Bob Keegan. The Chicago right-hander went all the way with a six-hitter, giving up Boston's run in the seventh as Sammy White doubled with two out and Norb Zauchin bloomed a pinch single to center.

The Indians hammered Tom Sturdivant for a 6-2 lead in three frames, then tagged the Yankees with their worst defeat of the year as Rocky Colavito hit his first grand-slam homer in the ninth off Al Cicotte. Rookies Russ Nixon, banging his first home run, and Roger Maris each drove in two runs as the Tribe collected 12 hits in support of once-beaten Don Mossi.

Andy Carey's sixth home run was good for two second-inning runs as the Yankees lost their second straight.

The Tigers boomed three runs home in the 10th, opened by J. W. Porter's pinch single and put away with Bill Tuttle's tie-breaking single and doubles by Al Kaline and Red Wilson. Charlie Maxwell's two home runs brought Detroit from a 4-0 deficit and the Tigers tied it in the ninth on Wilson's RBI single. Harry Byrd, reporting earlier in the day for another try at the majors, won it in relief. Truman Clevenger lost his first.

The second of three games with the New Yorkers comes tonight, with Joe Nuxhall slated to oppose Ruben Gomez.

Loes walked none and struck out six while winning his eighth. Bob Boyd was 3-for-4.

Jack Littrell, Dale Long and Walt Moryn homered for the Cubs, with Littrell tagging loser Bob Friend with a three-run shot. Dave Hillman won it in relief.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Broadway Billy Loes, his promising pitching career apparently doomed by a sore arm at the age of 26, is bidding for "comeback of the year" honors a year later as the ace of the Baltimore Orioles.

The sometimes-ecentric right-hander hurled one of the best games of his career Tuesday night as he blanked Kansas City 5-0 on three singles. He pitched perfect ball for 5 1-3 innings and wound up facing only two batters more than the minimum. He threw only 98 pitches.

The performance came several hours after the Orioles had announced a $1,000 raise for Loes on his 1957 contract.

Loes struck out six and didn't walk a man as he won his eighth game of the season while completing nine innings for the fifth time in 10 tries. He has lost only three and his earned run average stands at 2.63.

"He really showed me something," coach Al Vincent said after the game. "You just don't throw a better fast ball than he had and his control was perfect."

Loes has a good start toward his best record in the majors. He never won more than 14 in four full seasons with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League after receiving a $21,000 bonus in 1948.

Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles purchased Loes from the Dodgers for $20,000 May 14, 1956. The pitcher had been sidelined with a sore shoulder muscle, diagnosed as tendonitis.

Swimming Class Registration Set

Instruction Planned For Handicapped

Registration for the initial adult swimming lessons will begin Thursday and will continue through Tuesday evening when the first class session will be held at Centennial Park Pool.

Adults wishing to register for the lessons may call the pool office at ED 7-3191.

Both beginners and intermediate lessons will be given in the course which will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings through July 30 from 9 to 10 p.m. Adults will be charged 25 cents for swim baskets.

The second series of swim lessons for children will begin July 8 and extend through July 26, with registration set for Friday and Saturday, July 5 and 6.

Children taking the course must have a parental consent slip. The first series will end Friday morning.

The schedule for each day's classes includes: 9 to 10 a.m., intermediate and advanced; 10 to 11, beginners, nine years and over; and 11 to 12, beginners six to nine years.

Lessons for handicapped swimmers, both children and adults, will begin Monday and will continue daily throughout that week from 10 to 12 a.m.

During the second week, times will be arranged for individual lessons. Parents may register their handicapped children, and adults are welcome, including the blind, polio victims, rheumatic fever patients and others.

If the handicapped person is unable to adequately care for himself, park authorities ask that a responsible person be with him.

Patterson, Rademacher Fight Opposed

NEW YORK (AP)—The shock of the proposed Floyd Patterson-Peter Rademacher heavyweight title fight in Seattle, Wash., was beginning to wear off today and from here on it appears that boxing bigwigs will do all they can to block it.

Rademacher, the Olympic heavyweight champion, never has fought professionally, and even Cus D'Amato, Patterson's unpredictable manager, admits the idea is "fantastic."

But he is determined to go through with it, assuming Patterson likes Hurricane Jackson in the first defense of his title July 29. He has been guaranteed $250,000 for the match.

The first positive action came from Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission and — more important — newly elected president of the World Championship Boxing Committee.

"I'm utterly astounded that D'Amato would be even thinking of making such a match," said Helfand.

He said he had written a letter to Floyd Stevens, president of the National Boxing Assn.

It is obvious that Helfand minced no words condemning the bout in his letter to Stevens. Washington is a member of the NBA and Stevens is in a position to tell the Washington commission that the national organization opposes the bout. The NBA, incidentally, recently rejoined the World Championship Boxing Committee, so Helfand's ideas will get a careful hearing.

Kenmar scored early and then stopped a late rally by Herron to win. Kenmar tallied one run in the first inning, and two in the third.

IN THE TOP HALF of the sixth, Herron's tallied their two runs. Reesh rapped out one hit in two trips to pace the winners, and Jack Halderman had one hit in one try for the losers.

Purity Dairy scored in every inning but the last as their 16 hits, coupled with West End's 10 errors, produced their easy victory.

The Dairy nine scored six runs in the first two frames and five and nine, respectively, in the third and fourth cantos. West End tallied their three runs on four hits.

COX HAD A PERFECT night, getting four hits in four tries, and Darlene Smith rapped out two hits in three trips for the losers.

Petruci's got their runs on 11 hits, while Bloomberg's scored theirs on nine hits. The two clubs made a total of nine errors.

Bloomberg's led 5-1 going into the bottom half of the fourth frame, but Petruci's rallied with three runs in the bottom half of the fourth.

Bloomberg's pushed across three in the top of the fifth, but in the last half of the inning Petruci's rallied again, scoring five runs.

BRADLEY RAPPED OUT two for three to pace the winners, and Schaffer made two hits in three tries for the losers.

Although outthit 8-7, Stepanic's made use of a big first inning to capture their victory. Their scoring in the first frame was done on four hits, a walk and a mis-cue by the losers.

Jim Beard and Glenn Mercer led the Stepanic's attack, each smashing out two hits in three trips to the plate. Forrest McBrien paced the losers with two for three.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. LIDE

Fishing pressure has been light at Lake Guilford and regardless of the big walleyes that have been stocked in the lake, the carp fishermen are having the most fun.

There is no shortage of carp in the lake and if they are ever removed from the water it will spoil a lot of fun for many people. Strange as it may seem, game fish fishermen are in the minority at this popular spot.

MOST OF THE WALLEYES being taken, according to tag returns, are being taken by Youngstown, Akron and Canton fishermen.

Elwin Hawk of New Alexander built a new lake two years ago of approximately 30 acres. Elwin admits he knows very little about fish or fishing so he stocked it with bluegills, bass, crappies, channel cats, perch and walleyes. The walleyes were stocked April a year ago. The most amazing thing has happened, the walleyes spawned in the spring and now the lake is full of little 5 and 6-inch walleyes.

If the little walleyes reach maturity, and no doubt they will, and this natural hatch reproduces, then Elwin has got it made. According to fish experts, small lakes under 500 acres are not suitable for walleye production. He can sell all the little walleyes he can produce for 50c each.

The most interesting thing that will bear watching will be close observance and see what happens to the walleyes when they reach maturity and since they have become orientated in this small body of water.

That is the question: will they reproduce? Fishermen at this area catch these little walleyes by the dozens but they are handled carefully and returned to the water. Lake Pna as it is called means a "fishing lake" taken from an Indian word meaning fish dam. A syndicate from Minerva, consisting of 60 members, has leased the lake for five years.

BULLHEAD CATFISH are being taken at Zepernick Lake, running from 11 to 13 inches, which is exceptional for black bullheads.

There also are plenty of browns and yellows and the browns may reach 18 inches which is as big as they grow in this section.

So, if you like bullhead fishing just take along a can of night crawlers and fish during darkness. Some are being taken in the daytime as well.

BEFORE VENTURING into the woods or along the streams you in less than 24 hours after becoming infected.

Watch out for your children, the outdoors can be pretty rough when infested with certain kinds of insects.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Like that other ex-coal miner, Nikita Khrushchev, John L. Lewis doesn't like a police state. He said so himself when he left his counting house and went up the Hill to fetch a pail of headlines by telling a congressional committee that any new anti-labor laws inspired by the recent labor scandals would be the first step towards totalitarianism.

John L. said this with such graceful glowering and disdain for all mortal labor leaders that I find it almost embarrassing to recall that roughly half of the unionized miners in this land never have been permitted to vote for their union officials.

And that it was John L. Lewis who arbitrarily lent the International Longshoremen's Ass'n. hundreds of thousands of dollars with which to fight a crusading AFL-CIO outfit on America's key docks, including the military wharves.

It would be fascinating to learn from "The Thunderer" just how he would handle a problem now making more balding the harried heads of the AFL-CIO national headquarters.

SOME MONTHS AGO George Meany, AFL-CIO president, moved quietly against the racketeering inside Joe Fay's old union, the Operating Engineers, now run by one William Maloney as though he were a visitor from a small planet.

Until a few weeks ago, for example, no one but Maloney knew that he was drawing over $60,000 annually in official salary and expenses from the 200,000-member union.

He would not even break tradition and tell four of his national vice-presidents how much money this union had, nor how much was being spent, nor whether the outfit's new marble palace in Washington, with penthouse attached, cost 4 or 5 million dollars.

The vice-presidents could learn nothing about the number of locals which Maloney ran personally through "trusteeships," nor who was on payrolls and minor details like what bills were paid for whom.

THERE WAS ALSO — and still is — a stench-laden scandal in the union's Long Island local 138. So the five patriarchs who make up the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee dispatched a what-ago-on-here letter to Brother Maloney.

Three weeks ago they got a long, respectful reply, indicating that the union was now flexing its legal mind instead of its muscle. Naturally the 12-page reply was full of phrases which read like a re-write of Tom Paine.

The missive, well guided by the union's attorney, said, in effect, "We run a democratic union. We have this thing called due process. The reformers inside the union are really nothing but trouble makers."

"They went to the nasty old newspapers and the courts and ministers, priests and rabbis instead of exhausting their recourse within the union and talking directly to the almighty one high in the penthouse."

This last sentence is a mighty liberal translation of Maloney's pious prose. But the sentiment is there.

NOW WHAT would John L. Lewis, with his new doctorate of law, do?

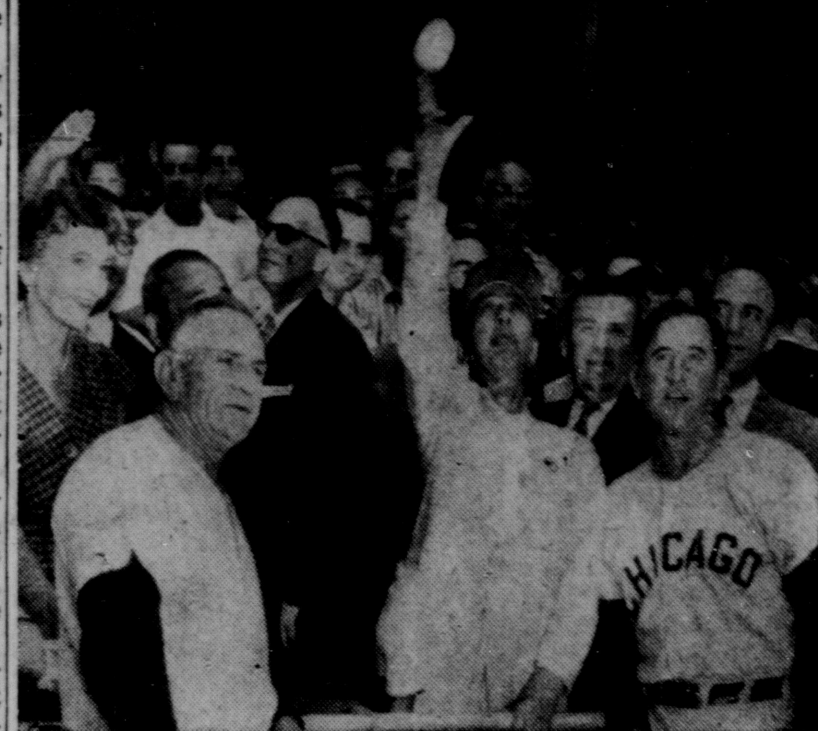

He lashed at those labor leaders who positively plan to support the McClellan committee's drive for anti-racketeering laws. But what about such outfits as the Operating Engineers, Doctor?

George Meany could ask Maloney to tear himself away from his penthouse and bring in his union books. But Maloney could, and would, say, "You can't make me."

Meany truly can't. He could perhaps heave the union out. But would that really help the Operating Engineers?

Expulsion by itself wouldn't clean up even one untidy business agent. That's why Meany wants his government's help — and that's why a recent speech by Meany should be impressed on the record.

TALKING to other union chiefs in Washington recently, he put it this way: "We do not have an investigatory force — we do not have an FBI in the AFL-CIO. We wouldn't possibly have one... under which we could police 68,000 local unions as well as 140 national and international unions.

"Of course we do not have subpoena power. So a great many of them (the things the McClellan committee has exposed) are things we could not possibly reach under any circumstances without subpoena power."

"I see absolutely nothing wrong in a congressional committee using that sort of power against corruption because we've got to have a clean labor movement in these U.S. — You can't serve them (the workers) with dirty unions."

Back to the ivory counting house, John L.! There's a fight on!

CLEVELAND (AP)—Speedy burglars early today took furs valued at $2,000 from the Wohl & Baum Furriers, Inc., in Cleveland Heights.

Police arrived within two minutes after being summoned by a silent burglar alarm, but found no one.

Officers said a chunk of concrete about 16 inches square was used to break a display window from which two mink stoles were taken. Three mink capes were taken from mannequins on the sales floor.

St. Jacobs Congregation To Honor Rev., Mrs. Fager

Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Fager will be honored Sunday in observance of Rev. Fager's retirement from the ministry and after ten years as pastor of the St. Jacob's Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The church, off the Lisbon Road, will be the scene of the Sunday program which will include services at 10:45 a.m., a basket dinner at 12:30 p.m. and a program from 2 to 4 p.m. At 4, the Youth Fellowship will be hosts at a tea.

Principal speaker at the 10:45 a.m. service will be Rev. Carl Bormuth, pastor of the Oak Harbor Evangelical and Reformed Church. Assisting him will be Dr. Elam G. Weist, northeast Ohio synod executive.

An informal social hour and song service will be held at 2 p.m., following the basket dinner.

Came Here in 1947
Rev. Fager, who preached his farewell sermon last Sunday, first came to St. Jacob's Church May 2, 1947.

A graduate of Heidelberg College and Eden Seminary in St. Louis, his first pastorate was at Payne, O., in May, 1918. From Payne he went to Fostoria for over eight years.

Prior to taking over the duties at St. Jacob's, Rev. Fager served as financial secretary of the Home for the Aged at Upper Sandusky, and interim pastor at Trinity Church in Tiffin.

Membership in the district church has increased to 350 persons under Rev. Fager's pastorate. The new $100,000 educational unit, completed in November, 1955, was erected at a cost of $50,000 because of the time and work executed by the congregation. The church has been redecorated and a kitchen and restroom facilities brought up to date.

Rev. Fager, who is a member of the Lisbon Kiwanis Club, was the originator of the service club's vocational guidance work in the Lisbon area.

Rev. Fager has no immediate future plans although he will be filling vacation pulpits this summer. The Fagers are building a new home at RD 1, Leetonia, where they will reside.

The couple have four daughters, Mrs. Delbert Sittler of Leetonia, Mrs. Gilbert S. Young of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. Bob Bartells of Garfield Heights and Mrs. William C. Benton of West Hartford, Conn.

Their grandchildren include Edward Paul Sittler, Robert, Anne, Jane and Marguerite Young, Barbara and Richard Bartells, and David Benton.
